

HEALTHCARE

Where can healthcare professionals work?

- › Hospitals
- › Physician Offices
- › Department of Corrections
- › Home Health Services
- › Contract Research Organizations
- › Assisted Living Facilities

There seems to be no end to the demand for healthcare workers!

Not only are they needed in labs and medical facilities, allied health careers, such as speech and language pathologists or occupational therapists, are also hot jobs worthy of investigation.

What kind of work could you do?

Postsecondary Training	Avg. Wage
› Dental Assistant	$19.82
› LPN	$21.15
› Phlebotomist	$15.02
› EMT/Paramedic	$16.09
› Health Information Tech	$16.33
› Surgical Technician	$20.64
Associate Degree
› Lab Technician	$19.09
› Radiology Technician	$27.95
› Dental Hygienist	$33.59
› Diagnostic Sonographer	$32.02
› Respiratory Therapist	$26.23
Bachelor's Degree
› RN	$55.57
› Lab Technologist	$28.91
› Health Services Manager	$42.51
› Mental Health/Substance Abuse Social Worker	$35.16
› Substance Abuse & Behavioral Counselor	$31.26

Top skills

- › Critical Thinking
- › Complex Problem Solving
- › Active Listening
- › Speaking
- › Social Perceptiveness

The healthcare industry is projected to grow 17,807 jobs by 2024.